

Monsoon session ends with battlelines drawn outside Parliament

LIZ MATHEW & HARIKISHAN SHARMA
New Delhi, August 12

THE MODI GOVERNMENT on Thursday fielded eight Union ministers to take on the Opposition over the washed-out Monsoon Session, accusing it of “bringing anarchy from the streets to Parliament” and of “literally threatening that if (the government attempts to pass more) Bills, there will be even more damage”.

The press conference by the ministers followed days of protests by Opposition parties, mentary affairs Arjun Ram Meghwal and V Muraleedharan, sought the “strongest possible action against those who broke the rules”. Joshi, the parliamentary affairs minister, blamed the Opposition for early end of the Session too, saying the government actually intended to extend it till Monday (it was to wrap up on Friday). “However, the Opposition said we will not discuss. I requested them to cooperate at least in the passing of our Bills. We were threatened, saying that if you try to pass the Bill... insurance Bill and other Bills... a more disastrous situation (might happen). You saw in the evening what happened yesterday, the climbing on tables, more than that was going to happen. This was clearly told in unambiguous terms. It was told to us. Now, they are talking that Bills were passed in the din,” Joshi said. Specifically attacking the Congress, he added: “It was pre-decided by the Congress and its friendly parties that we should not allow Parliament to function this time and we should take it towards a washout. This was their decision. That’s why I am trying to count the chronology of the events.”

Blaming the disruptions in the House for the Bills being passed without discussion, Joshi said the Opposition is “not ready to digest the people’s mandate.” Especially the Congress feels that ye hamara seat tha, ye Modiji ne aakar chheen liya (This was our territory, Modi has usurped it), that this is our birthright. Because of this mentality, these things are happening. I also demand action against people who climbed on tables and tried to manhandle marshals,” Joshi said, adding that he had asked Naidu to look into it.

Goyal described the incidents in the Houses as a “shameful disgrace in the parliamentary history of India”.
